ENTRANCE AT THE FIRST CLASS OFFICE AT WAY-

MOUTH, MASS., AT SECOND CLASS MATTER.

FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1890.

Every Tuesday contains a full account of town meeting.

The town voted liberal appropriations for its several departments and voted the several sums will be "put where they will do the most good."

The town could spend more money for schools, roads, parks, the poor, fire department, and many other things, and so could most of our families and individuals but, surely, should be controlled by the size of the purse.

The action of this voters at the recent town meeting showed that the people are in sympathy with all the improvements of the town but are not so much inclined to appropriate money for the departments as are spending appropriate units in case of extreme emergency.

The Gazette proposes running a series of sketches with full cuts of well known persons in the town. We may have to ask the kind assistance of many in securing the information needed, and we take this opportunity to bespeak such assistance when called for.

Two years ago the selection received high on the town reports. The propensity of getting bids occasionally has always been recognized by the town. The assessors have several times put prices on the poll tax books. The Gazette office is always ready for competition, and is meeting it successfully every day.

The grass is growing green in sheltered spots. The tulips and hyacinths have sprouted and the daffodils are beginning to grow. The bluebirds have been hatched and the budding trees unfold their leafy boughs, then the springing violet and bluebells break to rejoice in the sunlight of the gladiolas spring.

Very Weymouth and Braintree have proved this week that they are model towns, with a grand concert of musical exercises at South Weymouth on Monday evening and a classical concert and organ recital at the Union church of Weymouth and Braintree on Tuesday evening. The citizens of our town have surely enjoyed a musical feast and festival to the convenient service of the electric cars each concert was well patronized, and in many instances the patrons were the same paper, the same number of extra in each board copies. School reports, Water reports, the Weymouth and Braintree reports, the reliable guarantee that the books done out on time, which entails a considerable sum extra for eight weeks, and in fact, the same basis in everything. We think the people of Weymouth and Braintree are very different in the basis of such estimates and that only by figuring on these definite specifications can accurate comparisons be made.

It is easy to say that a certain job in printing could have been done for much less than charged when a lot of time is lost in getting the work done. The same goes for post-moratorium bidders who really next year to sign contracts with exact specifications as in the time limit, etc., taking their chances of the copy or parts of it not being delivered in time. Weymouth has chances that the printing offices quoted as saying that they would do the books at that price, will be too busy to do it just then. We shall see when the time comes. By the way, why has not the town in each year in the past? It has been no secret that Weymouth had yearly town reports, and the price paid has been general public knowledge also. If it has been such a bonanza why has not the printing offices long ago? We have heard of many towns postponing their town meetings because the printers did not get out their reports in time. We think the difference in the basis of such estimates and that only by figuring on these definite specifications can accurate comparisons be made.

Complaints to our John.

A popular member of the House and a first year man at that is Representative Whelan of Weymouth. With a large, honest, open face, with every nerve strong with interest in every thing that concerns the town, we have seen the diligent efforts of every bill that has been introduced by this people. The people of this town are the people of the people. Through his care and diligence he is always found on the right side.—Boston Daily Times.

Good Example for Some of Weymouth's Wealthy Citizens.

Anne W. Edwards, pastor of the English Baptist Church at Mincott's, Pa., who is suffering from rheumatism, was advised by Chamberlain's Paul Hall. He says: "A few applications of this liniment proved of great service in the cure of the rheumatism and relieved the pain, but I am still affected by giving Paul Hall a small amount of cold water to drink. For example, which has been set by Mr. Staton and one which any of our citizens would do well to follow. No more fitting memorial to a prominent citizen can be established than one from which the community in general derives the benefit.

CAMP WETHERILL, LITTLE MASS., INFANTRY, GREENVILLE, S.C.

GRAND CONCERT.

Union Church, at South Weymouth, crowded Monday Evening.

One of the largest audiences ever gathered in South Weymouth, the town which has the reputation of being the most musical town in the state, gathered last evening to listen to the concert which was given for the benefit of Mr. F. W. Gilman, organist of the church.

About five hundred people were present and the program was well up to the expectation of each number showed its applicability.

Music loving people from all parts of Weymouth, Rockland, North Arlington, Weymouth, Wollaston and Boston were present.

A critic might make comments on the attitude it would be almost impossible to critics, in any list of favorable reviews, in any of the following papers:

Advertiser, Mr. U. S. Garrison, Boston; Mr. Emmanuel Fiedler, violinist; Mr. Leon Van Vliet, cellist; Miss Marion Van Buren, reader; Mr. Arthur M. Raymond, organist.

The following was given in overture: "Steppin' Russian."

Mr. Raymond.

King Henry to Fair Rosamond, Liza Lehman, Hambro, Mr. Kerr.

The Rare, Miss Van Buren, Ziegengesang, Mr. Fiedler.

Symphonies, Mrs. Bixby, Benbridge, Mrs. Bixby, La Chiquinchara, Mr. Van Vliet.

A Drawing Room Drama, Miss Van Buren, Mrs. Bixby.

Music at the Night, Mrs. Bixby and Mr. Kerr.

Three, Mr. Fiedler, Mr. Van Vliet, Mr. Raymond.

Following this attractive program, the cantata "The Holy City" by A. R. Gau was sung by a chorus of thirty-eight voices. The program was well up to the expectation of the audience, and the concert was a success.

Mr. Gilman, organist of the church, was present and gave a fine musical treat.

After repeated applause Mrs. Fiedler gave an encore: "The Nightingale's Trill."

Mr. Gilman, organist of the church, was present and gave a fine musical treat.

The above balance has been placed in the Union National Bank to the credit and subject to the order of Mr. Gilman.

Plymouth Mayflowers, the sweet trailing arbutes, are for sale.

Easter comes early this year but Easter flowers, Easter cards, Easter eggs, Easter gifts and Easter hats are visible in great profusion.

FAMOUS PICTURES.

Entertainment at Union Church, South Weymouth.

A very pleasant entertainment was given in the vestry of the Union Congregational Church, South Weymouth, last Wednesday evening under the direction of Mrs. Henry D. Reed, assisted by Miss Mary D. Vining.

Representations of some of the famous pictures by well known and popular artists were given, the paintings being done by a number of local people.

Following the entertainment, a long play, "Pompeii," from "Tales of the Wayside Inn" was dramatized, this part of the entertainment being under the direction of Mrs. Milton Hawes assisted by Miss Mary D. Reed. The entertainment was very successful and the auditorium nearly filled with an enthusiastic audience.

The picture which gave the greatest satisfaction, and was surely the hit of the evening, was number twelve, "Cleopatra with Flowers," the posing being done by Mary Daniel, a ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel.

Miss Mary M. Clark rendered several selections among them being "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground."

The following is a programme of the pictures given, with the artists, as far as could be learned:

Orpheus at Amstelwood, Theresa Schwartz.

House, John S. Sergeant.

Portrait of H. H. Sibley, Sir Joshua Reynolds.

The Rivals.

St. Cecilia, Raphael.

The Sinner, Maure.

Nydia, Holbein.

The Last Supper, Leonardo da Vinci.

The Kaitling School, G. Hanks.

Santa Barbara, Palma Vecchia.

A Simple Song, W. M. Guy.

Clothes with Flowers, A. Omera.

Patience Put to the Proof.

Death of Cleopatra, M. M. Weston.

The Angels, Millet.

An Innocent Victim, Seymour Haden.

The cast of characters for the drama.

Elizabeth, Mrs. W. R. Field; Hearn, Miss Marion Head; John Estachi, Henry Barnes; Joseph, Foster Pratt.

High School Notes.

Ralph Burstell fell from the trapset Wednesday afternoon and severely injured his wrist.

Superintendent of Schools, B. M. Maguire, of Easton, was a visitor at the school.

The Teachers' Institute under State Agent Palme will hold a convention at the High school building on March 11th. The senior class are to provide a dinner at a moderate price.

It is rumored that the sophomore class are to give a reception some time in the next few weeks.

RESOLUTION—BVMN.

Trustee, Frank D. Miller.

(Written to be sung at Tremont Temple, Boston, Easter Day, 1893; will also be sung that evening at Weymouth Baptist Church.)

The woodwind open tomb
Holds the spirit of the gloom;
Grief of God; God's cold shades were born,
That death's pale, pale light,
For Easter's holy light,
My name we laid.

The angel called a day
The woodwind, and the way,
With Roman seal;
From death's cold shades was born,
That death's pale, pale light,
Our Saviour's glorious sun,
Life to reveal.

Like him, our souls shall be
Baptized in death;
He and I, and we;
For such a cross and thorn,
And such a life of toil,
Nor right nor tear nor groan,
Shall bright that hour.

This Easter Sabbath day,
We are gathered here to day,
That Christ shall be
With us, with us, with us,
Our strength for daily strife,
Our victory.

Oh mighty and strong,
Like him, our glorious soul,
And swell the prais,
As him who died for us,
And for us, and us,
Our Saviour, that glorious,
Through endless days.

Marblehead, Mass.

BAPTIST CHURCH FILLED.

Grand Organ Recital by E. Russell Sanborn.

An Interesting and Elaborate Program Furnished.

A large and fashionable audience attended the organ recital given at the Baptist church, Tuesday evening by E. Russell Sanborn of this town. Mr. Sanborn was assisted by Miss S. S. Clark, the organist, and a soloist, Lena Troutman, McRae, talented violinist.

The recital was a success, the large audience filling the church from time of the grand musical events held in Weymouth. Mr. Sanborn introduced an elaborate program, consisting of compositions from both modern writers and those of the old school. The program follows:

Great Prelude, H. M. St. John, Pease.

Mr. Sanborn, from Sonata Da Camera, Pease.

Violin Solo, "La Melodica," Primo.

Mr. Trushbridge, "Cavatina."

Solo, "Hear Me, Elijah," from Elijah, Mendelssohn.

Miss Crafts, "Orchard Christian Soldiers," Sullivan.

"Bridal Song," from Wedding Music, Johnson-Warren.

Mr. Sanborn, from "The Pilgrim's Progress," Pease.

Violin Solo, "Ode to Joy," Beethoven.

Mr. Trushbridge, "Cavatina."

Solo, "Hear Me, Elijah," from Elijah, Mendelssohn.

Miss Crafts, "Orchard Christian Soldiers," Sullivan.

"Bridal Song," from Wedding Music, Johnson-Warren.

Mr. Sanborn, from "The Pilgrim's Progress," Pease.

Violin Solo, "La Melodica," Primo.

Mr. Trushbridge, "Cavatina."

Solo, "Hear Me, Elijah," from Elijah, Mendelssohn.

Miss Crafts, the soprano soloist, is the soloist at the Christian Service church in Weymouth. The first appearance before a Weymouth audience at Mr. Sanborn's last recital, when occasion she made a most favorable impression, and she was given a rousing reception Tuesday evening. Miss Crafts is a young woman of great beauty and of remarkable purity, sweetness and extent of range. Her first number, "Hear Me, Elijah," from Elijah, by Mendelssohn was rendered with a great amount of expression and feeling. The selection was a very difficult one, but was rendered in a manner that leaves no chance for criticism. To an encore she sang, "Wedding Bell," which was most enthusiastically received.

Following the solo, the violinist, the violoncello, and the organist, the soloist, Mr. Sanborn, from "The Pilgrim's Progress," Pease.
